Mr. Van Wyck, however, has called for the vouchers and the items of the expense account of the department during the last year, and a transcript of the accounts as they stand in the Treasury Department is now being made. From a trustworthy source your correspondent has learned the character of the most interesting facts in these documents. In the first place, it will be shown that enormous sums have been wasted in the payment of spies or so-called detectives, who have had their expenses paid, down to even drinks. Strong and Crehore of the Yale College Glee Club Badly Injured.

LOUISVILLE, KY., January 7. - From statements made by the Yale College students, now in this city, it would appear that the terrible accident on Saturday at Charlestown, Ind., was the result of carelessness on the part of the train engineer. The St. about 19 years of age, was brought up Louis train was behind time and the strin the best society and was afford-dents in their anxiety to reach Louisville in time for their performance at Masonie Temple, made arrangements to have their car, the "City of Worcester," sidetracked and hitched on to the Cincinnati fast express at Charlestown tracked and hitched on to the Cincinnati fast express at Charlestown The engineer of the express was directed to be on the lookout, but he falled, and ran into the St. Louis train just as the students' car was being uncoupled. Otis Strong of Auburn and W. W. Crebore of Cleveland, Ohlo, who were the greatest sufferers, are still at Char estown under surgical treatment. Strong's right leg has been amputated and the left one will probably have to go, too. Crehore sustained a compound fracture of the right leg, but is doing well, and it is hoped the limb may be saved. Bith were very popular with their fellow-students. When the accident happened Strong fell between the coal box and a division door of one of the apartments. His right leg was crushed to a shapeless mass by the machinery of the engine and his left was wrenched between the box and the partition and was broken in three places. Crehore's experience was even more trightful when the crash came, He was cramped between the outer edge of the passenger coach and the cylinder bar. His left lower leg was broken in several places and a compound fracture at the hip joint was sustained. While in his perilous position the stove in the car was overturned and the flames which communicated to the seats were legiping towards him rapidly. Had not assistance come in the nick of time the unfortunate young man would have been burned to death. The students will make heavy demands against the O. & M. Raiiroad Company.

The Fate of Four Prisoners in the Jerseyville Jail. By Telegraph to the Post-Dir JERSEYVILLE. January 7.—The County Court House and Jall were barned here yesterday, at a loss to the county of $20,000. Four prisoners were smothered in their cells. C. Lipse mb, janitor of the Baptist Church, discovered the fire between 5 and 6 in the morning. He went to Sheriff Frost's residence, a quarter of a mile from the Jail, to get the keys. Not finding the keys there, he went a quarter of a mile larther, to Deputy Sheriff Biay's, where he found the keys and returned with the officers. After the keys were produced it was impossible to enter the building for the smoke, Sponges were procured, and, with these in their mouths, the officers succeeded in getting into the jail. Judge Hardman next rushed up stairs and thrust open the windows. Two of the prisoners—ficehler and Schultz—died in a few moments after being brought out into the air. Those who brought out the dead bodies were James Powell, Charley Keith, Wm. Hibble and Rev. F. M. Vantreez. The dead are Wall Dunden, aged 25 years, held for the killing of Nellie Dodson, May 22, 1883; August Shultz, aged 34 held for stealing a coat. December dence, a quarter of a mile from the Jail, to BUNKER HILL, January 7 .- The Monement House, a three-story frame building, burned yesterday morning. Loss, $5,000.

Maggie Donahoe, oid Death would have been robbed of his daintiest feast of the decade.

In the dormitory the situation grew more dreadful each moment. The susters, finding that exit by the usual course was impossible, closed the doors to shut out the smoke which was momentarily growing denser, and gathering the children together begged them to be more quiet, assuring them that as they were not very high above the street, the firemen would above the street, the firemen would soon resone the control of the dormitory overlooking the children in some segree. Gathering, therefore, at the windows of the dormitory overlooking the railroad, they screamed for some one to come and take them down, waving their hands, their handserchiefs—anything that might serve to a tirract attention to where they stood. The good Mother Superior (Mother Mary Jerome), to whom the burning institution and all its grand record represented the achievements of twenty-five of the best-years of her life, stood among the children and claimed their confidence as always, assuring them that she was there and would be with them to the end. She had been outside the building calling for help after the fire began, but true to her nature she had returned to her charge, undeterred by the growing danger.

Sister Gelasia then performed a most heroic act. Commending her soult o God, she leaped from a third story window, and, alighting on the frozen ground below, picked herself up uninjured and opened the main door of the building, thus affording the only means of egress to the endangered sisters and children on the inside.

When the firemen at length arrived, it was found that their ladders were too short to reach quite to the third story window. With great piesence of mind sister Menirad, who was in charge of the dormitory where the smallest endidren slept, wrappect the little ones in a bianket and passed them unharmed through the window to the firemen standing on the ladder beneath. Sister Jerome perished by fire. The remains supposed to be hers were identified by the sisters beyond question, by her teeth and by the remnants of a red finance ichemise which she wore.

Mr. E. J. White.

The second case is an odd one. When the Sunday law was "downed" by the decision of Judge Noonan, the advocates of the Sunday law were, of course, poweriess to appeal the case and get a Supreme Court decision on it. It appears that some of the friends of the cause, in this emergency, devised a very near plan for reaching the Supreme Court, which was as follows: The Town Council of Florissant was to be persuaded to submit to the voters the question as to whether liceuses should be issued for Sunday sale of wine and beer, pursuant to the provisions of the law of 1857, and in like manner as the bity Council of St. Louis su bmitted the question to voters here in 1863. As soon as the order for his election in Florissiant was issued, the Sunday law people were to apply to the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition, and on the issue our made the whole question would go before he Supreme Court.

APHIC NEWS.

At 80 'clock a fire broke out in

Finegax's Mattrees Factory, 1022 North Seventh street. It was some time before the department could get at the blaze owing to the snoke, but the fire was put out after it had damaged the building to the extent of $200.

At 9 o'clock a fire was discovered in

OTHER FIRES.

While the fire was in progress a panie was caused among the firemen by an almost incessant ringing of alarms. For a time it seemed as if the whole city were on fire. This caused the chief to telegraph the Cincinnati and Chicago departments for assistance, as the force here is in very bad condition. The fires for which these alarms were sounded were in all cases insignificant. The principal one was at.

The Prople's Therater, and its existence was only notable in that it demonstrated that the theater is admirably arranged in case of fire. A panie was prevented by a quiet announcement from the stage that a little blaze had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store had occurred in the laboratory of the drug store field out and the fire was extinguished without the aid of the department.

At a Colock a fire broke out in will add to the attractions each evening and insure additional pleasure to those who attend. A number of invitations have been issued to ladies and gentlemen, patrons of art in St. Louis, and admirers of one paintings. This series of receptions will form a new departure in the art circles of St. Louis, and the efforts of the Board of Control of the museum to make them a success is worthy of the highest commendation.

The Columbia, N. Y., College Boat Club has challenged the Harvard Boat Club to row an eight-oared race. It costs nearly as much to send a shell boat from San Francisco as the cost of the boat. The $140 shell which Ruddock built for Henry Peterson, reached 'Frisco December 17th with a $100 freight tag attached to it.

The chestnut colt Tyrant, by Imp. Great Tom, purchased not long since by Mr. James Brown, agent of J. B. Haggin. San Francisco, of Col. S. D. Bruce, is the finest-looking two-year-old in Kentucky, bar none, and is sure to race. The Kyre Daiy Cordella colt purchased of James A. Grinstead, Lexington, has developed into a grand looking three-year-old.

Well, Anson was in Philadelphia and I wrote him to the effect that I wished to give Corcorna all the benefits of our rules, and suggested that he go over to Newark and see him; not to offer him $2,100 6%, but stick to the original offer; to inform him that his time was up January 6, and that he surely would be expelled it he did not affix his name to the regular League contract. I received an answer from Anson Saturday. "Corcorna has signed a full contract. Send on $400," and that about settles it."

"What are the prospects in Chicago?" "Spiendid. We will have a big season, and our losing the champlonship will make it more interesting. Winning it right along has become rather monotonous, and this raises the hill somewhat."

In regard to the reserve rule, Mr. Spalding said that while in the abstract it looked like absolute slavery, that it was an essential and has been the salvation of baseball. He said in regard to the new union movement, that their relations with the Henderson Club had been amicable, with the caception of the Corcoran trouble, and that they would not stand. In the meantime the Union Clubs had a tremendons conidle boasts and are putting forth their best efforts toward a successful result, but they have the calm, confident air that proclaims an easy mind and an absence of any fear as to the election, so far as their candidates are concerned. It was reported on the floor this morning that the Executive Committee of the Gaiennie ticket had received a communication from Adolphus Busch, in which he positively declined the nomination of the vice-presidency on this ticket. Mr. E. B. Kirby, chairman of the committee, was seen, but would not admit that Mr. Busch had declined the nomination. Said Mr. Kirby:

"Mr. Wahl and a committee waited upon Mr. Busch and we have not yet heard from them. If Mr. Busch declines we have other good men to draw upon for the position. The Executive Committee meets this afternoon to fill any vacancies that may occur."

A member positively stated to this reporter that he had seen Mr. Busch's elter of declination. The meeting this afternoon will fill this vacancy.

The Grand Jury for the January term of the Criminal Court were selected by Judge Van Wagoner, this morning, from the list or Post-Disparch readers, and it does not ollow that anything in the Globe-Demorat's columns is equivalent to its being seen. The clipping was not a news item, but good eading at any time. The sarcasm in the Globe-Democrat man's reference to the "cusomary enterprise" of the Post-Disparch is ather obscure. The Peach Crop Killed.

World was reviewing the agricultural outlook at his sanctum this morning, and he was very descendent at the morning, and he assignment to-day. Col. Norman G. Colman of the Rural World was reviewing the agricultural outlook at his sanctum this morning, and he was very despondent at the peach prospect.

"The severe frost will kill all the peaches in this locality, and there will be none in Ilinois or Missouri the coming season; this will be a blow to fruit growers, who suffered very badly last year in the same way, and calculated on a big crop next year. Fruit in general will suffer, and peaches being of a very susceptible nature, will feel the frost more than any other. Our peaches next year will have to come from a distance, and we will have to come from a distance, and we will have to come from a distance, and we will have to come from a distance, and we will have to come from a distance, and we will have to come from a distance, and we will have to pay well for them."

Col. Colman said that as yet it was too early for general reports from his provincial correspondents, but he expected rather discouraging intelligence in the next few weeks.

The Weather.

The temperature began to sensibly moderate on Saturday night, and at noon to-day the mercury had risen to 8 degrees above zero, and was still bound upward, with a probability that a that would set in by morning. The snow-storm set in at 1 o'clock this morning, and fell steadily all night and this morning, with no probability of a cessation before night. The tee cakes in the river are passing the city isont slowly, and the channel is almost closed. Since Saturday the river at this point has risen four feet. The railroads are suffering considerably, finding it exceedingly difficult to keep up a good supply of steam. Sleighing is very good and generally enjoyed. The Weather.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

The Governor to-day commuted the sentence against James L. Bowman, convicted of murder in the second degree at the October term of the Dent County Circuit, 1880, and sentenced to ten years in the Penitentiary to a term ending the 1st of February next. The commutation was granted for reasons assigned by C. C. Bland, the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, Judge L. B. Woodside and others.

A CHICKEN THIEF PARDONED.

The Governor ordered a Jail pardon and remitter of fine to issue to Frankin Hill, confined in the Harrison County Jail under six months' sentence and $50 fine for stealing three chickens, upon a plea of guilty before a justice of the peace. The pardon was granted upon the application of the county officials and the circuit judge.

NEW YORK, January 7. — The cable anounces that Mme. Materna, the famous opera singer, has brought suit against Herr Pallini, manager of the largest theater in Hamburg, Germany, for breach of contract. The suit is pending in the Vienna courts. Pallini engaged six members of the Imperial Opera Company, including Mme. Materna, to sing in the United States at enormous salaries. Mme. Materna was to receive $100,000 to sing in this country from October 1, 1884, to March 31, 1885. When the arrangement leaked out is Vienna the managers of the Imperial Opera House threatened to resort to legal means of redress if their contracts were broken. All the singers, with the exception of Mme. Materna, agreed to give up their contracts and remain with the Imperial Opera Company. But Materna insisted upon having her $100,000, and has accordingly brought suit. Mr. M. Reno said he did not know who the New York men are who, with Prilini, made the contract with Mme. naterna, but it is generally understood that Theodore Thomas was anxious to bring Materna here.

The wonder is how so much can be given for so little. The Dime Museum is one of the best bargains in the amusement line to be found in St. Louis.

THE THEATERS.

Rice's Surprise Party opened their season at the Grand Opera House last evening to a house which was remarkably good considering the weather, the parquette and circle being well filled, the upper portions of the Smelting and Refining Company's works presented their foreman, Mr. Charles Her-aid, with a handsome gold watch and chain this evening. house completely occupied. The performance of "Pop" is in every respect a bright, merry and perfectly satisfactory performance, and the stag parties in attendance passed a most favorable verdict upon the good looks of the ladies of the company.

passed a most favorable verdict upon the good looks of the ladies of the company. Manager Rice has some special talents which contribute in no small way to his success. He knows a good comedian, a bright and pretty woman and how to select and arrange the prettiest and most catchy of current music. I never saw a musical adapter who has better taste and judgment in making his excerpt with less grounds for being stigmatized stereotyped. The musical numbers are delightful, and the new se ection sang by Miss Irene Perry, which is by the old "Evangeline" due, Rice and Goodwin, is very pretty. John Mackay acted during the evening, as a sort of comedy, Bill Tover, and as master of ceremonics kept the audience in roars of laughter in his guant business and expressions. He also introduced some very fine imitations of John E. Owens, M. B. Curtis, Harry Dixey, Stuart Robson, John T. Raymond, and his inimitable piece of mimiery "Macy's Clerk." Miss Kate Castleton is as handsome a high stepper as ever, and her in singing better than ever before, and her is singing better than ever before, and her waltz song and "Jack and Gill" were warmly encored. George Fortescue did his well-known baby business, and D. L hman gave some remarkabe dialect imitations, A "dude" act by Misses Emma Han'ey, Josie Hanley, Bertie Fish and Josie Hail, was one of the best of the evening; but it is impossible for me to particularize all the good features of the performance. It was better than ever, and, while there is not much in "Pop," it is a good sub tantial vessel in which to hold a good variety of very funny and attractive things.

up in enthusiasm what was lacking in numbers. "A Parisian Romance" is made up of peculiarly dangerous topics for dramatic treatment, and in some respects it is a very highly-spiced production. Marital unfaithfulness, the maneuvering of a wealthy old roue and some of the dark scenes of social life are the chief ingredients of this drama and its redeeming features are the wonderful pieces of realism introduced by the star, Richard Mansheld, in his portrayal of the decayed dibertine, Baron Chevrial, whose death scene is now known as one of the most vivid and starting picces of dramatic work on the stage. The play was well mounted at the People's last evening, some very pretty and tasteful scenery having been provided. The company in support was excellent, Mr. Leonard S. Outram, a very clever actor, being strong as Henri de Targy; H. B. Phillips, a capable old ctor, excellent as Dr. Chesnel; Miss May Brookyn was handsome and volatile as Marcel, and Mrs. Sol. Smith, Jr., presented a country picture as Madame de Targy. Miss May B. Perkins, Miss Helen Windsor and Mrs. Chas. Watson were satisfactory in their parts, and the thankless part of Rosa Guerin was admirably enacted by Miss Isabelle Evesson. "A Parisian R mance" will hold the boards and is preluded each evening by the musical comedy, "Our Concert Party."

season at Pope's to-night will be a very fine affair, and the bouse promises to be a very brilliant one. The advance sale of seats has been very large, and the notables of society and of the professional world will be present in large numbers. The bill announced is very attractive and includes the farce of "A Cosy Couple" and the comedy of "Butterfly Fever," two of the greatest successes in Wyndham's repertoire. The company is complete in all of its details, and the pieces will be mounted with great care and attention. "Ruth's Romance," and "The Great Divorce" will be given to-morrow evening.

Manager Edwardsiof the Theater Comique As if a Panic of LOW PRICES had struck this devoted community with the force of an East India cyclone, with the cold-blooded determination of sweeping every vestige of profit from the credit side of the Ledger. Mr. A sacrifices 10 per cent of his profit to make people happy; and Mr. B.. in the language of the sordid gamester, "sees his Fen and goes him Five better." thus conferring happiness on the 15-per-cent basis. You would naturally think that the limit had been reached at this figure, but another 'Richmond' anxious for glory enters the great mark-down "field," and flaunts his flag to the breeze, bearing the rather suggestive and taking inscriptive,
